

Product Description

Dynasty Online is a game about the rivalry and jealousy between Royal Families in Renaissance Europe. Players will be given the chance to lead their own royal families and build a dynasty that will last for thousands of years. Build your empire, secure your borders and fight for supremacy in this online multi-player browser based real-time strategy.

Dynasty Online is not just your typical kingdom management game. You will need to form strategic alliance with other players to secure a strong genetic pool for your dynasty. Weak blood will breed weak heirs resulting in the decay of your empire over generations. You can send your armies to distant expeditions that bring empire wide bonuses to production, research and military supremacy. You will need to engage in a strategy based turn based combat to attack your enemies where your choice will directly affect the outcome of the battle.

The game will be free to play for the English nation. The other three nations, Spanish, Prussian and the French will require players to pay a one-time premium. The key resource in this game is time. Time affects the production rate of resources, construction time of buildings, research rate of technologies, and recruitment of military units. Cash shop items will hence focus on reducing the time required for different actions for paying customers to gain an upper hand against non-paying customers in terms of production.

However the game is designed such that, strategy also plays a major role. The game features an elaborate technology tree with very specific focus such that players are greatly encouraged to specialize. Having higher production rate does not ensure victory in combat, which is a key feature of the game. Unlike much kingdom management game where the combat is instantaneous, attacking players will need to be online to engage in combat.

Combat is divided into multiple waves; each wave pitches an attacker's unit of choice against a defender's unit. The defender will be able to customize their defending strategy and prepare a pre-determined sequence of units against an attacker. During combat, the attacker will need to interactively select a unit to face off the defender's unknown sequence of unit. Combat is won when either side's morale reaches zero or when a maximum of fifteen waves has been reached. Players may select generals to lead their attack against the enemy; generals are selected from the player's own royal family tree.

Features
